SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY
BY MR. AND MRS. WM. S. COLE
Mr. and Mrs. William Saunders Cole observed their silver wedding anniversary Thursday evening at their home, No. 91 High street. Among the many guests present were several from out of town. The evening was devoted to music, singing and there were also Victrola selections. Refreshments were served. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Cole received a number of congratulatory telegrams from out of town friends unable to be present. The gifts included silver, money and linen.

Receiving by Mrs. Emmitt N. Ellis of Fairfield, sister of Mrs. Cole, and Misses Julia and M. Ruby Egge. The house decorations were pink and green, and the reception room was decorated in white. Mr. and Mrs. Cole were married in Fairfield Oct. 23, 1895, and practically all their married life has been spent in Norwich.

INJUNCTION AGAINST IRONSIDES BOARD

The Ironsides Board Corporation, operating the paper mill at Thameville, which is recently announced had been sold to the Shuttleworth-Keller Co. of New York, has had a temporary injunction issued against it in a suit brought for specific performance of contract or $1,000,000 damages by Calvin A. Agar, of West Orange, N. J., and others.

The injunction, which was issued by Judge C. B. Waller of the common pleas court, is to hold until the superior court or some other competent authority shall make further orders, and it is to restrain the defendant company from selling, leasing, transferring or otherwise disposing of certain property which C. A. Agar, Incorporated, of Hartford, claims the rights to. The property referred to is all of building No. 3; the southwesterly half of building No. 1; right of passage through building No. 11; sufficient storage space to the regular business of the corporation on the southwesterly end of building A; free and unrestricted use of the adjacent railroad sidings, loading platforms, wharf and bulkhead.

The suit is brought on the claim that the Ironsides Board corporation made various proposals to Calvin A. Agar to induce him to organize and "Agar" fibre board and corrugated paper box manufacturing company and open a plant within the plant of the Ironsides Co. at Thameville. An agreement was finally made, it is claimed, with the expectation that the Ironsides Co. would deliver space to the plaintiff by May 1, 1920, and Calvin A. Agar organized a $250,000 corporation in New Jersey for the purpose of doing this business at Norwich.

Now it is claimed the Ironsides Co. has held for its own use the space which the Agar corporation was to have, as the price of paper board, such as the Ironsides Co. manufactured, had increased so much that the Ironsides Co. it is claimed, determined it could make more money by using the space for its own use than by leasing the space to the Agar Co.

The plaintiff claims that the business enterprises contemplated by the contract carried on for the five years therein provided would realize a manufacturer's profit of $1,000,000 to the plaintiff, C. A. Agar, Incorporated.

The plaintiff believes that the defendant company is about to transfer the control of the property leased to the plaintiff, as provided for in the contract, to a third party which will render it unable to carry out a judgment of specific performance. Charles B. Whittemore of New London is attorney for the plaintiff. Brown and James appear for the defendant. The papers in the suit were filed Thursday at the office of Judge George E. Parson, clerk of the superior court.

The paper mill was shut down Wednesday. An attachment for $500,000 has been made against it in the suit.

Other suits filed included the following:

Damages for Shooting. John Kelly of New London, a minor, brings suit through his father, Austin Kelly, against Lester Fowler and William Taylor of New London for $10,000 damages for injuries received by Kelly when it is claimed he was shot in the jaw and shoulder by the two defendants on Aug. 30, 1920 at New London.

Healthy Hair Shows Its Care

Noonan's Hair-Petrol Keeps It Healthy

Thin hair, brittle hair, hair that means started or neglected hair, hair that is a well known dermatologist's enemy. The healthy hair shows its care. The very best preparation is one composed of a base of purified crude oil and other stimulating properties and this happy combination is admirably found in Noonan's Hair-Petrol. After a few applications of this preparation the hair seems to take on new life, grows thick and smooth and the scalp becomes smooth and healthy. Noonan's Hair-Petrol can be applied by doctors, fifteen cents, or obtained for one dollar, the bottle at drug and department stores or direct from T. Noonan & Sons, 31 Portland St., Boston.

of Montville reads Christine Chapel Johnson of the same town for divorce. They were married on May 26, 1917.

Foreclosure in Groton. Foreclosure of a $2,500 mortgage on real estate on Thames street, Groton, has been brought against Giacomo Anzola and others by Frank J. Alexander of Waterford. The debt was incurred on Oct. 13, 1919.

Claim for Services. On a claim for $2500 for work performed and professional services rendered, Eugene L. Conway has brought suit against Clara C. Hannon of New London.

Seizure of Auto. Suit for the return of a 1919 Cadillac Victoria from Sheriff W. F. Brough of Stonington has been brought by Louis Grow of Brookline, Mass., doing business as United Motors of New England. The car was taken under attachment by the sheriff on Sept. 30, 1920.

MORPHINE HABIT VICTIM

JUMPS NEW LONDON JAIL
James Meade, 48, doing a sentence of four months for breaking into the office of Dr. A. A. Sherwood in New London and stealing morphine, escaped from the county jail in that city Wednesday afternoon. Meade was a trusty while he was engaged in working on the lawn of the jail about 3:30 he made his escape. He was first missed when prison officials looked for him to return to the building.

Meade was sentenced by Judge Hinman at the September term of the superior court. He is about five feet and seven inches in height, weighs about 145 pounds, and is smoothly shaven. He wore a suit of olive drab and a brown fedora hat. A description of the escaped prisoner has been sent to the authorities of this and neighboring states. Meade was the man for whom when he came to be sentenced in court the plea was made that his stay of several months in jail before the case came up in court had broken him of the morphine habit and that he felt sure he would never become subject to it again. The court was asked to put him on probation, but Judge Hinman decided another four months in jail would better fit the case.

ELECTION DAY CLOSING

NOT APPLYING TO SALOONS
Saloons were formerly required to close on election days. This year there is no order for them to close. A majority of them closed permanently some time ago. A few of the saloons where hard stuff was formerly dispensed are now operating for the sale of soft drinks by selling soft drinks they are following a custom long in vogue at drug stores, candy shops and other refreshment places and so fall in the same category. The county commissioners feel that they have no authority now to close saloons closed on election day as they do not issue any licenses for the sale of spirituous and intoxicating liquors. It is not expected that there will be any need for the closing of saloons next Tuesday as on former election days. If any violation of the Volstead act occurs the violator is punishable on election day the same as on any other day.
